

"Never Really Know"
by Gregg Standridge, Gabriel Scroggins and Terry Ware

I feel the sunshine on my face
But you never really know who it's shining for
You never really know

I feel the south wind blowing by
But you never really know what it's blowing for
You never really know

Is it for you
Is it for me
You never really know
You never really know

The distance we feel may not be as far
When we look past what we believe

And now a cold rain starts to fall
But you never really know who it's raining for
You never really know

Is it for you
Is it for me
You never really know
You never really know
